Density

Borvina is a Hard Fescue that is medium to dark green in color. Its fine leaves form a dense, dark turf. Known for its quick establishment followed by slow growth, Borvina also combines winter-hardiness with an early spring green-up.

Borvina has shown high resistance to red thread disease and good resistance to snow mold.

Like most hard fescues, Borvina is a low-maintenance variety that is ideal for erosion control, the roughs of golf courses, parks, landscape and lawns.
